ANC6D Report

By Ron McBee

The SW/SE Advisory Neighborhood Commission 6D held its Sep. meeting at the Millennium Art Center at 65 I (Eye) St. S.W.

The city agency which owns the fee title of the Waterfront development (RLARC/NCRC) explained the terms of the proposed sale of the title to the Waterfront Developers. ANC6D will hold a special public meeting on Wed. Oct. 6 to discuss the sale and terms. (place to be determined). The ANC office has phone no. 554-1795.

St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church at 3rd and M St. S.W. explained its proposal to demolish the current structure and build a community center to use for worship and public meetings, a coffee shop and 78 affordable housing rental units in a 5-story complex.

Requests for grants by the ANC (including support for publishing The Southwester) were put over until the ANC can adopt guidelines at an administrative meeting set for Oct. 13.

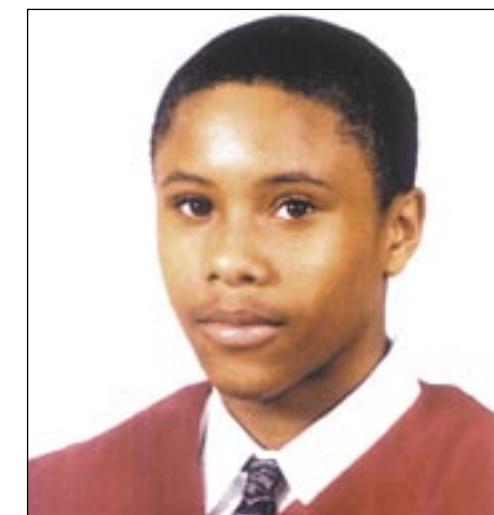

The ANC decided to renew its request to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to review whether H2O Restaurant is operating as a restaurant or needs a club license.

The October regular open meeting of the ANC will be held on Mon., Oct. 18, rather than Oct. 11, the Columbus Day Holiday.

Housing Costs Threaten SW; Meeting Oct. 5

"Runaway housing costs about to chase you out of Southwest?" asks the flier for a "Special Community Meeting" Tues. Oct. 5 from 6:30 pm to 8:30 pm at Westminster Church, 400 I (Eye) St. S.W.

"Do you feel that long-time residents are being "planned" out of Southwest, AGAIN?" the flier continues. "Given the number of new residents coming into Southwest, why hasn't the city shared plans for new schools and other service facilities?"

Sponsors Rev. Brian Hamilton and Ahmad Nurriddin have invited back Fannie Mae, which has held an earlier meeting of "faith-based" groups. District officials and others involved in major developments in Southwest have been invited.

SWNA Candidate

Forum. Sep. 27

The monthly meeting of the Southwest Neighborhood Assembly will be held at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Mon. Sep. 27, at 7:30 pm.

On the agenda is a candidate forum of candidates in the Nov. 2 election, and an explanation of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church's plan to build a new church with apartments on upper floors.

Your Grocery List Helps SW Schools

Grocery purchases at Safeway and Giant help local schools again this year. (A Painless Way To Raise Funds For SW Schools)

by Susan Fischer

Safeway will contribute a percentage of your grocery bill to the school you designate when you register your Safeway Club card with the eScrip program. You can register online at www.escrip.com or at the Safeway customer service desk, selecting either Amidon or Bowen as the school you wish to support. (Jefferson is currently not participating in the program.) Anyone with a Safeway Club card can register with eScrip and designate one of our schools as the beneficiary, no matter where they live, so tell your friends and relatives nationwide that they can support a Southwest school without spending a penny!

Deadline for submissions for next month's Southwester: October 6.

Sculpture Classes In SE

By Mark Clark

The Washington Sculpture Center, located in spacious, newly renovated studios at nearby 1338 Half St. SE, has just released a schedule of classes for fall 2004.

The center, a nonprofit organization, is offering a wide range of courses in stained glass, blacksmithing, bronze casting, glassworking, mosaics, metal fabrication and stone carving.

The class instructors are all working artists and acknowledged authorities in their fields. Reinaldo Lopez, the center's co-founder and stone carving instructor, recently completed lion sculptures that grace the entrance of the National Zoo.

A recent tour of the 16,000 square foot facility revealed sparkling, well designed class rooms and work spaces, and the latest state of the art tools and equipment to help students turn their artistic fantasies into reality.

The class fees are quite modest, ranging from $220 to $300 plus cost of materials. You may call 202-479-6730 or access their website at www.DCSculpture.org for further information.

ON THE WATERFRONT

WANNA DANCE?

The First District Vice Squad must be doing a victory dance after the recent arrest of two of Southwest's alleged biggest (literally and figuratively) crack dealers in the James Creek Dwellings. For years, the portly brothers could be seen apparently distributing their wares and directing business on their bicycles, but a recent police stop is rumored to have produced a rock of crack cocaine the size of a grade A large hen's egg, and the fellows are getting ready to go away for a vacation at tax payer's expense.

The SUMMER OF LOVE is apparently over for good on Carrollburg Place after the pink Spandex clad residents of a rather bawdy house on the once quiet street managed to set fire to their rented home in the course of a six month long round the clock party there. Their hard pressed neighbors find the newly won silence almost deafening.

WELCOME BACK

Law abiding Southwest residents are heralding the return of their old friend, Officer Rob Elliott, after a lengthy tour of duty in Iraq. Baghdad won't be the same without him.

Artwork by Santa Clara Pueblo Indian artist Margaret Bagshaw-Tidwell will be on display there for the month of October.

LAND OF THE FREE, HOME OF THE BRAVE?

The new security traffic checkpoints around the Capitol recently netted septuagenarian Southwest philanthropist Gerard T. Dunphy on charges that OW hopes will be laughed out of court. The eccentric Irish realtor was arrested and his son's train was detained for 82 minutes at Union Station while bomb-sniffing dogs searched for explosives. The time might have been better spent examining the arresting officer's head. We can only assume something has been lost in translation.

37 Yrs in S.W. – Moving On

By Mrs. E. Fowler

I came to live in SW DC in 1966 My youngest daughter was one year old. She is now 38 years old.

I've been living here for 37 years in May. It truly is historic for me to think of now and later years to come. I came in the good times and going out on bad times.

I feel as though I did the right thing to move out on my own and choose my place of being comfortable. I am glad I am able to make a choice for my living, rather than someone else.

I will miss the walks through the park to the mall and having coffee near the subway.

I also raised four children and helped with five grandchildren. My friendly neighbor Mrs. Chamblean and Mrs. J. Matthews. My children were Ricky, Barry, Tammy and Jackie Fowler.

Thank you.

Bobbie McMahan

Ms. Bobbie McMahan, a longtime Southwest resident and civic activist passed away after a lengthy battle with cancer.

As far back as May, 1974, The Southwester reports her many community activities:

- Resident of old Southwest and new SW since '63
- Activist in civil rights, housing and welfare for the last 17 years (before 1975)
- Prime mover of effort for 24 hour service and community center, became chair of SW Youth Neighborhood Group, which lasted until Sep. '76 at King Greenleaf Recreation Center

- Chairperson of Family Day
- President of 1200 Delaware Ave. Residents Council, and later for Greenleaf Annex:
- Elected to Board of Southwest Neighborhood Assembly

To these can be added many more, such as Board Member of the Southwest Community House, Amidon Neighborhood School Council, the International Food Festival and the South Washington Collaborative...

Ms McMahan was educated at Morgan State College, the University of D.C., and Temple Business School. Besides her children, she leaves four grandchildren and other relatives.

George Washington, Rest in Peace

The following tribute from many of the S.W. coaches who have mentored George over the years speaks for the grieving Southwest community:

"George Washington"

"The Metropolitan Police Boys & Girls Club #4 has dedicated the 2004 football season to one of its own. George Washington, a member since 1993 when he joined the Super PeeWee basketball team at age 4.

"George was a sports-fanatic and played them all well. He led Clubhouse #4 and Jefferson Jr. High to many city championships, while playing to a level above his peers and showing great potential in the major three: Football, basketball and baseball.

"We will miss him....Rest in peace... Our number one...At clubhouse #4.
